

THE 1977 NORTHWEST REGIONAL FOLKLIFE FESTIVAL

Beginning on Friday nite, May 27, Krab will broadcast live from the 1977 Northwest Regional Folklife Festival. The Folklife Festival is an annual event, held at the Seattle Center every Memorial Day weekend. It puts on stage many of the finest of the Pacific Northwest's traditional and contemporary folk musicians: old-time fiddlers, bluegrass bands, songwriters, musical saw players, spoon players, shantywomen and shantymen, non-western musicians, and many surprises.

Krab will broadcast live from the Seattle Center Playhouse each evening of the Festival, Friday through Monday, beginning at 8pm. The Friday nite concert is a special Krab concert, which is described elsewhere in this program guide. The Saturday nite concert is presented by the Washington State Old Time Fiddlers' Association. The Sunday concert features non-western music, and the Monday concert, contemporary singers and songwriters. In addition, during the afternoons of Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Krab will broadcast from its own stage, outside the Alki Room (or inside the Alki Room, if the sky drizzles). The afternoons will be assortments of the variety of musics which make up the Folklife Festival.

All Folklife Festival events are free of admission charge, a present to the people of the Pacific Northwest from the musicians who play at the Festival, and from several funding agencies. So, come down to the Center when you can. When you're at home, listen to the Festival on Krab.

Krab's broadcast of the Folklife Festival is supported, in part, by a grant from the Washington State Arts Commission.

MAY GUIDE

The international news has two specials coming up this month. On May 10, Tuesday, at 8 pm, we will present part two of last month's popular program on the Trilateral Commission, the elite private foreign policy organization funded by David Rockefeller with members from business, academic, and government circles in Japan, North America, and Western Europe. The Commission's stated purpose is to promote unified political and economic policy among these three regions. Its most prominent member, of course, has been Jimmy Carter, and last month we explored the role of the Commission in electing Carter and the role of elites in general in making foreign policy.

This month, we will go into the merits of trilateralism itself as a foreign policy. Questions here include whether Japan, North America, and Western Europe have enough in common to act jointly, whether the three regions will instead grow more competitive over the next few years, and what trilateralism means to relations between industrial and third world nations. Prof. Don Hellmann of the University of Washington and Dr. James Huntley of Battelle Institute will join the news staff again this month as they did in last month's program.

Then on Tuesday May 24, at 8 pm, the news will look into multinational corporate control of the world economy, particularly of third world nations. Entitled "Neither Taxation Nor Representation," this program will study charges that multinational corporations, instead of benefiting the third world countries they enter, are actually "under-developing" them. Of particular concern to the third world is the long term viability of the export economies which multinationals create, and of the extremely high debt which third world countries have entered into in attracting multinationals.

Critics also charge that third world elites engage in "competition" to see who can provide the most attractive deal for multinationals, and often the effect of these competitive deals is increased oppression of workers and devastation of natural resources. The May 24 program will look into these and other questions of the emerging economic world order of multinational corporations.

ABOUT KRAB

The spring marathon is over at KRAB. The entire staff and volunteers would like to express their appreciation to all that pledged during the marathon. The final total came to $10,006.50—a success for everyone.

KRAB will continue to represent the best of the alternatives, whether its community issues, arts, drama, news, ethnic programs, music or specials. And through a matter of course, KRAB will continue to represent the interests of all its listeners.

KRAB is mostly a volunteer station i.e. a majority of the programs are produced by volunteers. Although the money pays the bills, it's the people that keep KRAB going. People that have an honest dedication to alternative radio and the freedom that comes with it. With the combination of subscriptions and people KRAB can expand and strengthen the foundations that have made it your radio station. The people at KRAB want to explore and experiment beyond the standard boundaries. And you can be part of that expansion—call us 325-5110

To All at KRAB-FM

Good luck on the marathon and thanx for all the entertainment. Enclosed check for renewal plus $5.00 for the great jazz—really enjoyed the Ernestine Anderson day—
Hi to Phil A.

KRAB:

Please send me a membership card, put me on your mailing list, accept the enclosed $25, punch Dennis Flannigan in the jaw for saying "um" and "ah" so many times on the Krabgrass show, and keep playing that Sunday morning jazz on Memory Lane.

Margaret Elwood

Dear Friends at KRAB

Please count me in as a member—take the enclosed money order and fix the turntables! Or whatever... I really appreciate the Spirit behind KRAB—living alone in the countryside as I do makes me appreciate Radio-Free-People like yourselves and the wide spectrum of programs you offer. For what it's worth, I'd sure like to hear more Indian—near-Eastern music daytime...to play to my garden and me whilst in the plant/grow cycle.

Abundance, Perseverance to you all

Don't thank me thank the IRS. I've been listening for a good month now to your radio broadcasts. I especially like the classical music of the mornings and your storytelling hours and the bluegrass music. Keep up the good work and I hope to be able to support you when possible. Love to listen to you all
